

A wonderfully witty take on playing nice, from a fresh and funny new talent. Baby Elisa loves Tag, the family dog. She loves to squeeze him, and pull his tail, and tackle him. Tag loves Elisa too—especially when she’s sleeping. Elisa’s parents tell her, “You must be gentle with the dog, dear.” But this is easier said than done. What’s a good dog to do? With spare, pithy text and laugh-out-loud illustrations, debut author/illustrator Matthew J. Baek brilliantly captures the warmth, frustration, and rampant comedy of life with a toddler and the object of her delight. Whether the pursued or the pursuer, any kid with a pet or sibling will love this tale of two characters who share a true regard, and learn—with much hilarity along the way—the right way to show it.

Be Gentle With the Dog, Dear! has ratings and 36 reviews. Ellen said: Sweet and definitely relatable. To wit: we had to send my elderly cat to a reti. Poor Tag: He's a lap dog, a gentle dog, and he'd have such a happy family life if it weren't for the not-so-tender ministrations of Elisa, the family's baby daughter.

Based on the author's own family's experiences, this is sure to strike a chord with anyone who has both small children and a furry pet.
