

Meet Rosa, the Bearded Lady! Charley, the Albino Boy! See them all for yourself at R. J. Walters Museum of Earthly Astonishments! In 1883, there is no better place in the world to see exotic attractions than Coney Island, New York. Josephine lives in a little dot of a town called Westley. But her parents still can charge a penny to any visitor who wants to gawk at her. They also can sell her for an even better price to the MacLaren Academy for Girls, where Josephine scrubs and fetches and withstands mocking torment from the fine young ladies of the school. One day Josephine takes four gold dollars from the schoolmistress and runs away. But she trades her freedom to belong to the famous R. J. Walters Natural Curiosity show on the Coney Island boardwalk. He gives her a new name and a new identity--Little JoJo of Bohemia--but the crowds and the newspaper articles can't satisfy the hunger she has for a real family and a real home. In this beautifully evoked, wonderfully readable adventure story, an incredibly versatile writer creates a marvelously believable heroine from a time and place filled with many wonders. Publishers Weekly hailed Marthe Jocelyns first book, The Invisible Day, a surefire crowd-pleaser in a starred review. She is also the author of The Invisible Harry and wrote and illustrated Hannah and the Seven Dresses.
